Introduction

The theme of the 2026 event is CNA2026: Power and Purpose.

In an era of rapidly growing energy demand, economic threats, and climate urgency, Canada's nuclear industry is unique in its ability to not only keep the lights on but also give us something to be proud of. CNA2026: Power and Purpose celebrates nuclear energy's vital role in delivering reliable, clean electricity that strengthens energy security while bolstering economic resilience across our provinces, fostering collaboration to build a stronger, more united Canada.

Beyond powering homes and businesses with 24/7 clean energy, the industry plays an essential role in supplying life-saving medical isotopes that support advanced diagnostics and cancer treatments for Canadians and patients around the world. Nuclear also supports strong, resilient communities that create and sustain jobs and local economies for generations. Nuclear power goes beyond technology. It represents a shared commitment to stability, prosperity, health, and environmental stewardship.

This conference brings together leaders, innovators, and representatives from across Canada who share a vision of energy that unites provinces in partnership, serving today's needs while empowering a sustainable, prosperous future for all communities that shape this country.

Who attends?

In 2025, we hosted an audience of over 1,500 from within and outside Canada's nuclear industry. The high profile of our delegates makes the CNA Conference an excellent venue to showcase your business. Here's a quick snapshot of who attended our last conference in 2025:

- Utility Presidents/CEOs: Nicole Butcher (Ontario Power Generation), Eric Chassard (Bruce Power), Rupen Pandya (SaskPower), Lori Clark (New Brunswick Power)
- Laurie Swami, President and CEO, NWMO
- Tim Gitzel, President, Cameco Corporation
- Provincial Ministers: Hon. Stephen Lecce (Ontario), Hon. Rene Legacy (New Brunswick), Hon. Nathan Neudorf (Alberta) and David Brock, Crown Investment Corporation of Saskatchewan
